1.) A metaphor that helps to explain the economy:

2.) Abilities that mattered most at the turn of the century (left hemisphere):

3.) Set of abilities are becoming increasingly important (right hemisphere):

4.) Identify the three reasons that the right hemisphere functions are becoming increasingly important:
   c.

5.) Left-brained functions are necessary but not ____________________.

6.) Dan suggests that the abilities that are hard to outsource, hard to automate, delivers significance along with utility will have the greatest economic impact. He then says that, “Our education is woefully out of sync with this.” Do you agree or disagree? Why?
